

ATTACHMENT I – Abstract

Process for high speed metal strip electrotinning wherein the strip is plated by anodically dissolving tin anodes facing the strip into an electroplating solution, and depositing said anodically dissolved tin on at least part of the strip acting as cathode, wherein that tin is supplied to the electroplating solution in the form of pellets held in an anode basket.